PUBLIC FUNERAL OF MR. GREEN

CITY WILL BE REPRESENTED AT THE BRICK CHURCH.

Murderer Held After an Inquest-Will Not Be Railroaded-Mr. Green's Portrait Just Finished for the City-Bessie Davis Found-She Is Now Hannah Elles of Central Park West-Says She Knew Williams but Neven Heard of Mr. Green.

Andrew H. Green will have a public funeral, which will take place at the Brick Presbyterian Church, Thirty-seventh street and Fifth avenue, on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. This was decided at a family council held at the Green residence, 91 Park avenue, last evening after the arrival from Chicago of Oliver Bourne Green, one of the two surviving brothers and president of the Green Dredging Company, which built the Chicago canal.

Oliver Green got to town shortly after 6 o'clock and went immediately to the house. Three hours later Nathan W. Green, a nephew, gave out the funeral arrangements. The Rev. Dr. William R. Richards, pastor of the Brick Church, will officiate, assisted by the Rev. Leighton Williams, pastor of the Amity Baptist Church and by the Rev. Dr. George W. Webster, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of the Covenant, in East Forty-second street.

Dr. Green said that, while his uncle was not a member of the Brick Church or any other, for that matter, most of the members of his household were members of that church and, for that reason, the church had been chosen. The clergymen invited to assist Dr. Richards had been chosen because they were old personal friends. The pallbearers have been selected, but as acceptances had not been received from all last evening, it was decided not to give out the list until to-night. After the funeral the body, accompanied by the immediate members of the family, will be taken to Worcester, Mass., and to Green Hill, the family homestead, where Andrew H. Green's brother, Martin Green, has lived for many years.

There, on Tuesday afternoon, private funeral services will be held. The burial will be in Rural Cemetery, Worcester. Dr. Green said that the family had not been informed what action the city government would take regarding the funeral.

"I assume," he said, "that the Mayor and other officials have been waiting to learn what the wishes of the family regarding the funeral might be. I suppose that the various organizations and societies with which my uncle had been identified will be represented at the funeral. The family would have preferred, of course, an altogether private funeral, but we concluded that we had no right to consult our own personal wishes, when we remembered the city to whose welfare Andrew H. Green devoted his life."

President Fornes will either appoint committee of the Aldermen to attend the funeral or notify the members that they are all invited to attend. The heads of many of the city departments will be pres-

MESSAGES AND CALLERS.

Telegrams of condolence were received by the family yesterday from the following persons: William Evans, Liverpool; E.W. Blatchford and Jesse Spalding of Chicago; Prof. J. W. Spencer of Toronto; Dr. John Green, a distant relative, of St. Louis; F. R. Levering of Lafayette, Ind., and George SAYS SHE NEVER HEARD OF ANDREW H.

Among those who called at the house were John Bigelow, Elbridge T. Gerry Randolph Guggenheimer, William Allen Butler, George G. Haven, William M. K. Olcott, F. W. Devoe, Supreme Court Justice Charles F. MacLean, Edward Payson Cone. Dr. Herman Knapp, Dr. Daniel M. Stimson Dr. S. Billings, the Rev. Drs. Wilton Merle Smith and Henry M. Stimson, Evert Jansen Wendell, Charles A. Peabody, John L. Cadwallader, Supreme Court Justice Vernon M. Davis, John D. Crimmins, Gen. Francis M. Greene, Herman Ridder and J.

PORTRAIT OF MR. GREEN FOR THE CITY Some time last June Mayor Low ordered Henry Mosler, an artist who lives in the Euclid Hall apartments at Eighty-sixth street and Columbus avenue, to paint picture of Mr. Green for the city. Mr. Green had his last sitting for the picture last Tuesday and it is almost finished. In the picture Mr. Green is sitting in a chair and is holding a document in his hands. SURPRISED THAT MR. GREEN LIVED SO LONG

Yesterday Dr. O'Hanlon said that the most curious and interesting thing revealed by the autopsy was the condition of the arteries, particularly those of the brain. He said that the arteries were as brittle as glass, and that it was remarkable that a man, who had always done the amount of brain work of Mr. Green, had not suffered from frequent attacks of vertigo, or had not, with the arteries in the condition in which they were found, suffered a paralytic stroke years ago.

After the inquest held by Coroner Jackson yesterday afternoon, Cornelius Williams, the negro who murdered Mr. Green in the vestibule of his residence on Friday afternoon, was held for the Grand Jury. The verdict was that Mr. Green came to his death as the result of gunshot wounds in the head and abdomen inflicted by the negro.

The District Attorney was represented at the inquest by Paul Krotel. The prisoner was represented by A. H. Kaffenburgh of Howe & Hummel. Policeman Houghtaling, who arrested Williams, told what he knew about the murder. Other wit ses were Wardmen Edward J. Kelly and Peter Gough; Emile Michelsen, a fifteen year-old errand boy employed by Higgins & Seiter; Frieda Ericson, a servant in the Green household; Coroner's Physician O'Hanlon, and Dr. Nathan W. Green, a ephew of Andrew H. Green. Frieda Ericson said she was so excited at the time that she just couldn't remember enything on the witness stand, and was excused. Dr. O'Hanlon told of the result of the autopsy, and Dr. Nathan W. Green swore to the identification of the person who was murdered. Detective Kelly was about to tell what Williams said regarding the colored woman Bessie Davis and her alleged relations with Mr. Green. Mr. Krotel objected to the introduction of any such testimony on the ground that it was not the business of the Coroner to examine into motives, but simply to determine the cause of death and who caused it.

Despite the strenuous objections of Mr. Kafer burgh to the shutting out of such testimony, Coroner Jackson ruled with the were to the identification of the person

Assistant District Attorney. When the hearing was over Mr. Krotel said:

NO RAILROADING. "It is probable that Williams's case will be presented to the Grand Jury on Monday. and, if it is, an indictment will probably be returned on that day. His trial will be hastened, but with all due regard to the rights of the defendant. It should be understood now that there will be no railroading of this or any defendant, no matter how heinous the crime committed, under the present administration of the District Attorney's office. It would be quite possible to have this man's trial begin next week. Whether or not it will take place then remains for District Attorney Jerome

A. H. Hummel, who has the general direction of Williams's case, made this statement vesterday afternoon:

"I assume that nobody in his right mind | Trust. would murder so good and so great a man as Andrew H. Green. Therefore, I assume that Williams is a lunatic. Besides that, the reports which have been made to me of the man's mental condition have led me to conclude that he is as crazy as a bedbug. I shall ask to have a commission in lunacy appointed at the earliest possible moment. If that commission reports that he is sane, I shall drop the case immediately. If it reports that Williams is a lunatic I shall do what I can to see that he goes to a place where he will be properly cared for."

PESSIE DAVIS IS HANNAH ELIAS. According to the story told by Williams after his arrest on Friday night, a woman known as Bessie Davis lived at 138 West Fifty-third street, in a house given to her by Andrew H. Green. Williams said that B. Baldwin, the exploror, who says he the woman was a light mulatto of knows about Ziegler's "Missouri deal," comely appearance. He said that she was before the Grand Jury yesterday. moved away from the house several years It is supposed he told the Grand Jury ago and that he had been looking for her, enough to form an indictment. It is without success, ever since to "cut out her

The house in West Fifty-third street mentioned by Williams is occupied by colored persons, and the agent is J. Edgar Leaycraft of 19 West Forty-second street. Mr. Leaycraft said yesterday morning that the owner of the house is Mrs. Hannah Elias and that her attorney is Augustus C. Nanz of 302 Broadway. Mr. Nanz made the following statement about his client: "It is true that Mrs. Hannah Elias owns the house 138 West Fifty-third street. She has owned it, I think, since 1894 or 1895. Mrs. Elias is not now in the city, having gone South, I think, for her health. She has been indisposed for a long time. I do not know if Mrs. Elias ever went by the name of Bessie Davis. "Is Mrs. Elias a colored woman?" Mr. Nanz was asked. "Of that I am not sure," was the answer.

She may be, but if she is, her color is very Mr. Nanz said he knew nothing about the negro Williams or his story.

Mrs. Hannah Elias lives in a rather pretentious apartment house at 236 Central Park West. She has occupied the apartment, which is rather luxuriously furnished, a little more than two years. In the Directory she is listed as Mrs. Johanna Elies, widow. Some of the other tenants have thought that the woman was a creole, others that she was a Spaniard, and some have been bold enough to express the opinion that she was a colored voman. She keeps four servants, including a lady's maid, a Chinese cooka coachman and a Japanese butler. The maid said yesterday afternoon that Mrs. Elias had gone to the country.

noon that he had had an interview with her, but he refused to say where the interview had taken place.

"This woman told me," said the inspector, that she knew Williams, the prisoner, in 1895. He had a room in her house and she him. Since then, she says, she hasn't seen him and doesn't know what he has been doing. She says that she never saw Mr. Green and never heard of him. I am convinced that her story is true.

The police have learned that some years ago Mrs. Elias was divorced from her husband, Davis, and after the divorce took her maiden name, which was Elias. Her house is two doors from where lived young Abeel, who posed as "J. Ogden Goelet." WILLIAMS SAYS HE WAS AT HAMPTON.

The negro Williams said yesterday that he had been once a student at Hampton Institute for one year, and after that had taught school in Virginia. Then, thinking to better himself, he came to New York and got a job as head waiter in a New York hotel or restaurant, he's forgotton which. Mornay Williams, Mr. Green's attorney. said last night that about a year ago he and his wife were coming to New York on a New Haven train and that a colored porter, in the course of some talk, asked many questions about Andrew H. Green. Mr.

questions about Andrew H. Green. Mr. Williams saw the assassin in court yesterday and he is quite sure that he and the porter are one and the same.

The only other near relatives that Mr. Green had besides those living in town and his brother are Samuel M. Green of Holyoke, Mass., and William Ogden Green of Chicago, who will attend the funeral in Worcester.

Negroes Deplore Mr. Green's Death. At a meeting of the executive committee of the United Colored Democracy held last evening at its headquarters, 324 West Fifty-ninth street, resolutions were unanimously adopted deploring the death of Andrew H. Green and praying for "quick and merited punishment" for the assassin.

WILLIAM ZIEGLER INDICTED.

CHARGED WITH BAKING POWDER TRUST BRIBERY.

Indictment Returned in the Missouri Scandal-Ziegler Accused of Being in St. Louis When the Bribe Was Paid -Baldwin, the Explorer, Testifies.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 14 .- The Cole county Grand Jury, which has been investigating boodle charges against Missouri legislators, returned 106 indictments to-day. Most of these were local cases, but there were five of outside importance. The most important of these was an indictment against William Ziegler of New York, who has been at the head of the Baking Powder Mr. Ziegler is charged, with his agent,

D. J. Kelley, with complicity in the bribery in 1901. It is charged that Kelley, now a fugitive in Canada, came to Missouri for Ziegler and bribed the Missouri legislators to allow no alum baking powder to be sold in the State. For this ex-Lieut.-Gov. John A. Lee says Kelley, representing the Baking Powder Trust, paid $8,500, of which seven Senators, on the committee that considered the bill, got $1,000 each. It is charged that Ziegler was in St. Louis during the negotiations and for this reason the indictment is returned. A Sheriff brought W. A. Cochran, bookkeeper of the Planters' Hotel, before the Grand Jury this morning. It is supposed the books proved the presence of Ziegler in St. Louis. Evelyn charged that Ziegler was in St. Louis the day the boodle was divided.

William Ziegler was one of the incorporators of and for several years the treasurer of the Royal Baking Powder Company. It was largely due to him that the combination of the baking powder manufacturers of the country was effected. As a nucleus for this consolidation he purchased the Royal Baking Powder Company of New York, the Cleveland Baking Powder Company of New York, the Price Baking Powder Company of New Jersey and the New York Tartar Company. Under the name of the Royal Baking Powder Company those five concerns were incorporated in March, 1899, with a capitalization of $20,000,000. The union of these companies carried with it the control of the baking powder output William Ziegler was one of the incorporait the control of the baking powder output of the country.

The indictment of Mr. Ziegler in Jefferson City in connection with the baking powder deals in Missouri could not be explained by his friends in this city last night, because it has been understood that since the formation of the trust Mr. Ziegler has been out of the baking powder business. For several years past he has devoted his attention to real estate transactions in

For several years past he has devoted his attention to real estate transactions in Brooklyn and Manhattan.

Mr. Ziegler financed the unsuccessful expedition which started out two years ago under the command of Evelyn B. Baldwin to find the North Pole. It has been reported since that he is planning to fit out another Arctic exploration expedition.

Mr. Ziegler led the fight in Brooklyn against the purchase of the Long Island Water Supply Company, by which $1,500,000 was saved the city. He began a taxpayer's suit and William J. Gaynor was his counsel. He was afterward prominent in promoting Mr. Gaynor's political aspirations, which resulted in Gaynor's election to the bench of the Supreme Court.

NOW WANT A SYMPATHY STRIKE. Labor Leaders Think That the Only Way

CHICAGO, Nov. 14 .- The menace of the sympathetic strike in behalf of the street car men, postponed yesterday, became real to-day. The firemen of the Chicago City Railway Company's power plants, who quit work Friday afternoon, were made him leave because she objected to joined to-day by the engineers, and it seems probable that the linemen will also go out. The teamsters who haul the coal that supplies the power plants are in an ugly mood, and may refuse to deliver fuel at any moment. Such refusal would amount to a severe blow to the car company. With police protection and cars actually running over the Wentworth avenue route running over the Wentworth avenue route, at least at intervals, the labor leaders evidently are considering the use of the sympathetic strike as their most available weapon. They aim to cripple the company and to call out every man of every craft and function upon the lines. Attempts to run cars on other lines than that of the Wentworth avenue were abandoned after noon to-day.

The police were forced to club the crowds that swarmed down on Clark street at the

The nearest attempt to a riot took place at Forty-eighth street and Wentworth avenue in the afternoon, when a crowd of men prevented the police from arresting a woman who had thrown a brick at a car. The police ran for the woman as she retreated from the street. THE MISSES ELY SUE.

Want Pay for the Full Tuition of Madeleine Walcott, Whom They Expelled.

Boston, Nov. 14.-The Misses Elizabeth and Mary Ely, principals of a girls' school in New York, to-day brought suit against J. W. Walcott of Natick to recover $500 and expenses of $172 alleged to be due for the tuition of his daughter, Miss Madeleine Walcott, who was expelled from the school on Dec. 9, 1902.

The suit is one of the chapters in the escapades of three school girls, which had its result in the marriage last June of Tommy Graydon, the Harvard full back, to Miss Beryl Whitney. On Nov. 15 of last year Miss Walcott, Miss Whitney and another young woman were suspended from the Ely School because they "broke certain inflexible rules of said school." On Nov. 22 they were "rusticated" to the town of Sharon, Conn., in charge of a chaperon. After the Yale-Harvard game Graydon went to Sharon to see Miss Whitney and was introduced to the chaperon as Miss Whitney's brother.

There was some talk of attempted elopement by use of a ladder, but Graydon always denied this part of the story. Upon he return of the young women to school, Miss Walcott was expelled because, as the declaration puts it, "while at said Sharon, Madeleine again behaved so that it became necessary for the plaintiff to totally expel

The terms of the Misses Ely's school are $1,000 a year, payable semi-annually with the expressed condition that if the girl's term is not finished for any reason whatsoever, the whole amount for the year s nevertheless due.

The Misses Fly alleged they have suffered great pain in body and mind and that the reputation of the school has suffered.

WM. L. ELKINS'S WILL. Contains a Provision of $240,000 for

Masonic Orphans Home in Philadelphia. NORRISTOWN, Pa., Nov. 14.-The will of William L. Elkins of Philadelphia, who died at his home at Ashbourne, Montgomery county, Pa., was admitted to probate to-day. Mr. Elkins was reputed to have been worth $20,000,000. The only public bequest, however, is $240,000 to the Masonic Home of Philadelphia for female Masonic orphans, to be erected on a lot 200 feet square on North Broad street. The original will devised a lot at Broad and Butler streets, but as a proposed boulevard, which is about to be established, will cut through the original site, a codicil directs that the orphanage be built on a lot 170 feet north of the boul-

Concerning this, Mr. Elkins notes that his recognition of the boulevard is not to be considered an indorsement of its projection. On the contrary, he considers the boulevard a detriment to his property and wants no mention of it in his will to stand in the way of the estate recovering damages.

The will is dated July 11, 1892, and contains five codicils. It is the largest estate ever probated in this county. The widow and John G. Johnson are named as executors. Mr. Elkins's art collection will go to the city of Philadelphia after the death of his widow and children. KANSAS BOODLE SCANDAL.

Padding of Legislative Payrolls Disclosed by an Investigation. TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 14.-Kansas is face

o face with a Legislative bood! and the Governor is considering the advisability of asking a Grand Jury to probe into the state of affairs. The State Auditor is going over the vouchers of the Legislature employees and is turning up a padded roll. D. F. Campbell, Representative from Bourbon county, has been indicted by the Labette County Grand Jury for trying to collect $100 from J. L. Weaver, Labette's County Clerk, for passing a bill raising County Clerk salaries. Campbell was arrested to-day. Sidney Blakeman, a House employee, who worked the last ten days of a ninety day session as an assistant sergeant-at-arms, was paid for only ten days Some one else collected on a forged voucher for the other days. W. S. Harris, a Kansas City, Kan., politician, was on the payroll as janitor and received pay for all the term except $14.

Harris said to-day: "I did not go to Topeka and did no work for the Legislature, though a check was issued to me. I did not even know what position I held in the Legislative appointments, and would have gone to Topeka and earned the money which I later drew from the State if I had been notified to do so." city, last night. These securities and two pistols were in a valise. Mr. Alexander had made an appointment with some financiers for to-day on matters connected with his company's road, and drove from his home to his office to get the bonds and notes from his vault. He stepped into a business place on Austin street, between Main and Elm, leaving his horse hitched and the valise in the bottom of the buggy. When he returned five minutes later the valise and its contents were gone. Detectives have gained no clue to the robber. It has been known for some time in Texas railroad circles that the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Company was negotiating for the purchase of the Velasco, Brazos and Northern. The disappearance of the securities may delay negotiations.

WE'LL TALK WITH LONDON SOON

TRANSATLANTIC TELEPHONE IS PROMISED WITHIN A YEAR,

and Repeating Stations in Telegraphic Communication Will Be Abolished, Increasing Speed of Sending Cable Messages More Than Fourfold-All Due to an Invention by Englishmen.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. LONDON, Nov. 14.-Prophecy is dangerous, out with a full realization of its pitfalls the correspondent of THE SUN ventures the following prediction: Within three months, probably before New Years, direct telegraphic communication, without intermediate repeating stations, will be established for the first time between New York and London, and telegrams will be exchanged at a speed of more than four times the previous capacity of any cable.

I am tempted to go a step further and express the strong expectation that within a year it will be as feasible to converse by telephone between THE SUN Building in New York and THE SUN'S London office as it is across Manhattan.

Perhaps it is as well to confess that it is easy to prophesy when you know. The feat of rapid communication between London and New York as a matter of fact has been greatly surpassed recently in actual practice; in other words, the problem of cheap and rapid long-distance communication has been solved, and the credit for this signal triumph of modern science belongs to England.

I am compelled to await the permission of the inventors before making more than this general announcement.

DENVER, Col., Nov. 14.-John Otto of Cripple Creek, who called at the State House to-day with the avowed purpose of killing Gov. James H. Peabody, was overpowered by Deputy Sheriffs in the Governor's office before he had a chance to draw his revolver, and now occupies a cell in the county jail, where he will await examination by a commissioner in lunacy.

Gov. Peabody was in Golden watching a football game, hence his life was not in danger. For three or four weeks Gov. Peabody has received letters in which his life was threatened. The hour of his death was set for this afternoon at 3 o'clock, when, the writer announced, he would carry out his determination. The letters numbered five or six and were long and

MURDERER CONFESSES.

Prisoner in England Tells of Killing School Girl in Ontario. TORONTO, Nov. 14.-A cable message

Attorney-General immediately cabled instructions to hold Sparks under the Fugitive Offenders act and to send an accurate

It was suspected that two tramps, a negro and a white man, were the guilty parties and numerous arrests have since been made in various parts of the country, but all have had to be released except one negro, now in custody at Ancaster, Ontario, who is still held and may yet be connected with the crime. TREASURY AGENTS CHANGED. Col. Smith and Most of His Subordinates

FIGHT FOR CAB DRIVER'S ESTATE sheedy Left $36,000 in Savings Banks -30 Cousins and Nephews Want It.

A contest now in progress in the Surrogate's Court over the estate of Patrick Sheedy, a cab driver and liveryman in a small way, reveals that he was worth $36,000 when he died suddenly in January last. Thirty cousins and nephews are fighting over the money. Many of them had not seen him in years. He left no will. James A. Dwyer, a nephew, obtained letters of administration, furnishing a bond for $20,000. Another nephew, Michael Sheedy, who is a theatrical manager in New England, learned of his uncle's death after the administrator was appointed and made the administrator was appointed and made representations to Surrogate Thomas upon which Dwyer was removed and Michael Clifford, also a nephew, was appointed administrator on giving a bond for $80,000. All Patrick Sheedy's money was in savings bank deposits, and one bank book was for money put in trust for John Sheedy, who died leaving nine children. Clifford is now trying to make Dwyer render an accounting of his term as administrator and to obtain from him the John Sheedy bankbook.

While it was not officially stated yesterday, it was pretty generally understood in Wall Street that J. P. The remaining $10,000,000 of bonds will not be sold, but will remain in the Lake Shore treasury. Of the proceeds from the $40,000,000 sold, $25,000,000 will go to take up the notes issued a year ago by the company, and $15,000,000 will pay for interests acquired in other railway properties, including presumably the Reading and the Hocking Valley companies.

KOSHER KILLING OF BEEF. Humane Society Authorities of Denver

Stop Slaughtering by the Rabbis. DENVER, Col., Nov. 14 .- Killing of beef y Jewish methods has been ordered stopped by Secretary Whitehead of the Humane Society, and 4,000 orthodox Hebrews in Denver are deprived of meat until the courts pass upon the matter. Humane Society officers, after witnessing the killing of two cows, would not allow further butchery.

The rabbis explained that the Jewish rites required that the beef be hung up by a hind leg so as to permit the blood to flow out at the cut in the neck. Mr. Whitehead insisted on having the animal stunned first. The rabbis said that there could be no stunning of any kind, as that was contrary to the custom.

Elis Score First, but the Princeton Captain's Great 70-Yard Run Evens Matters-Clever Work at Critical Moments Twice Saves the Game for Visiting Team-Final Goal From Placement Kicked by De Witt in the Last Minute of Play-An Exciting Finish.

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 14.-Princeton won a glorious football victory from Yale in the last minute of play this afternoon, when, with the score tied 6 to 6, Capt. DeWitt, the hero of old Nassau, kicked a magnificent goal from placement on the 43-yard line and made the final score 11 to 6 in the Tigers'

It was DeWitt who made Princeton's touchdown in the first half, after a desperate run down the chalked gridiron for nearly seventy yards. This play came like a streak of lightning at a time when Yale was fighting the Tigers toward their goal line inch by inch. Mitchell dropped back to try for a goal from the field, but as he was slow the ball did not rise from the ground, but struck DeWitt on the shinguard. The big Princeton captain picked up the ball and had a clear field, evening up the touchdown made some time before by Hogan of Yale after a series of terrific ine smashes. So DeWitt, who played football as he never played the game before, was the lion of the hour. His two scores were supplemented by some other great runs, fierce tackles and good punting, although at the outset his kicking foot was somewhat out of smooth running gear.

Behind the Princeton captain were as game a lot of men as ever fell on a ball. They withstood the pounding of the big Yale tackles. They cut up the Yale defence, and when the gigantic Bloomer, Yale's mighty right guard, was compelled to leave the game in the second half, the Tigers saw the handwriting on the wall and played with greater vigor than before.

Slowly but surely Yale's giants were worn out and excelled in football science as the battle drew to a close, until, with a trifle more than five minutes to play, the Tigers were the masters of the situation as far, as defence and attack went, coupled with the fine points that go to make up a championship eleven. Princeton has a champion team beyond a doubt. Yale was actually outclassed in many ways. Princeton's superb ends, Davis and Henry, were invincible. It was their swiftness of foot that caused the Yale backs to fumble and must punts in a disheartening way, and because of other pieces of similiar unsteadiness the Blue warriors lost several royal chances to score. But may lay just claim to being a Missouri these things are part of a football game, and to the victors belong all the praise and glory which their wild-eyed followers showered upon them after the whistle ha blown when the shades of night were falling fast on the scenes of slaughter. There was much rough work by both teams, and some open slugging, but after it was all over the players were forgetful meeting of the board of directors of the New York and New Haven Railroad this in great numbers and never made such a demonstration in the history of the game when the final points were scored. The town is alive with celebrant sto-night, but they are gradually drifting to the trains for the more seductive attractions of the metropolis. Yale men are brokenhearted. They backed their supposed great team heavily to win, offering 2 to 1 right up to the game. But they have no excuse to offer, and generously give all credit to DeWitt and his gallant companions.

HOW THE GAME WAS PLAYED. Movements of the Ball Up and Down the Chalk Ribbed Field. NEW HAVEN, Nov. 14 .- It was exactly :08 o'clock when the rival captains, Rafferty to the centre of the gridiron by Referee Mathew McClung of Lehigh. flip of the coin resulted in Yale's favor and "As far as the Metropolitan Street Rail- Rafferty chose the northern goal and gave the ball to Princeton to be kicked off. The great crowd sat in silence as the yellow ball poised in mid-field with De Witt, wearing a broad white linen bandage around his head, arranged his men in their proper places. The Yale warriors, who looked bigger and more muscular than the agile young men from Jersey, stood like panthers waiting for their prey.

> DE WITT KICKS OFF FOR PRINCETON Suddenly the referee, a little fellow with a black skull cap, blew his whistle and De Witt kicked the ball high and far down the field into Yale's territory. As it settled into Metcalf's outstretched arms Davis rushed up like an express train and down went Metcalf on Yale's 18 yard line. Then a fake kick was tried and Farmer plunged through Cooney, the freshman. He made eight yards, and a tremendous cheer went up from the Yale crowd. Hogan, short and thick set, with a bull neck, then filed into Dillon for five yards and Metcalf made two through Reed. The Tigers were for the moment bewildered, but Capt. De Witt was as cool as the autumn breeze which > swept over the field. Realizing that it was too early to drive their attack to the limit, the Yale men then shifted their tackles and Mitchell was called upon to punt. His drive went out of bounds at Princeton's 50-yard line, the kick being made so close behind the rush line that the oldtimers opened their eyes in wonderment. It was Princeton's ball for the first time, and how the Tigers in the lower stands cut loose. Young men stationed at various places in front of the Orange and Black rooters directed the demonstration. Firs came the well known Locomotive
